Thomas J. Wronski is Director of Legal Talent Solutions for EBG Advisors, based in Chicago. Thomas is responsible for managing the EBG Advisors Legal Talent Solutions program. He helps organizations such as hospitals, health systems, insurers, physician groups, long-term care providers, drug and medical device companies, private equity and venture capital firms, and law firms recruit health care and life sciences attorneys.

Thomas has over twenty years of experience as a legal search consultant specializing in the recruitment of partners and groups for top U.S. and international law firms, and he has been involved in some of the most transformative deals in the history of the legal industry.

Thomas has particular experience working with health care and life sciences attorneys, and his list of contacts at law firms, in-house, and in the government is legendary. A recognized thought leader in health care and life sciences legal recruitment, Thomas regularly partners with the American Health Law Association and other organizations on programming.

Prior to becoming a legal search consultant, Thomas was employed in the Office of the Cook County State's Attorney and at the United States Department of Justice.

Inclusion and Diversity

Thomas J. Wronski is a leader in the area of inclusion and diversity recruitment with a proven track record of practical results for his clients. Thomas is also the founder of Health Law Allies, Inc., a dynamic new nonprofit organization that matches African-American law school students with law firm and in-house attorney mentors.
